ALLEGE FRAUD IN LAND DEAL

C. M. Oldham Files Answer to Complaint on Note For $1000 For Which W. M. Bliss Sues.

CASE IS TRIED HERE TODAY

Plaintiff Declares That he Loaned Defendant That Sum to Meet Notes Given For Land.

The case of Will M. Bliss against C. Morton Oldham of Center town-ship on a note demanding one thou- sand dollars occupied the time of the circuit court today, when David L. Wilson of Shelbyville sat on the bench as special judge. When the suit was first filed, the defendant filed a lengthy answer in which he charged fraud in a land sale in which Mr. Bliss participated as agent and to pay for which he loaned Mr. Oldham one thousand dollars. The day was taken up with the introduction of evi- dence and it was expected that the case would go to the jury late this afternoon.

It seems that the plaintiff once contemplated entering the Florida land business. For a time he acted as agent for the Southern Land and Investment Company of Chicago and while in that capacity he sold Mr. Oldham three hundred and twenty acres in Florida. The defendant was unable to meet the notes which he gave for the land as they came due and it seems that Mr. Bliss loaned him one thousand dollars for that purpose.

The transaction took place in Oct- ober, 1909. It seems, from what was brought out in the evidence, that the members of the Oldham family went to Florida, but that they did not de- velop the farm which they purchased. Instead, they located in a town near there called Ladel. It was brought in the trial today that they wished to build on the farm before they oc- cupied it. They attempted to mort- gage a piece of land in Texas to get funds with which to build.

When Mr. Oldham failed to pay the loan of one thousand dollars, Mr. Bliss sued him for the amount. Mr. Oldham filed a long answer to the complaint in which he charged that fraud had been used by the company and their agent, and that the land had been misrepresented. On the other hand the company holds that the defendant is unable to know the condition and value of the land when he made no attempts to develop it.

A number of witnesses were in- troduced by each side. Late this af- ternoon, a large number of letters, purported to have been written by Will M. Bliss, as agent of the com- pany, and Sealy B. Moody, secretary of the Chicago company, to the Old- hams were read.

Watson, Titsworth & Green are representing the defendant, while Sexton & McColgin are attorneys for the plaintiff.

DR. J. C. SEXTON ON PROGRAM

Union District Medical Society Will

The Richmond doctors will entertain the visitors at a ban- quet in the evening.

FINED FOR TRESPASSING

Hill Vance Pleaded Guilty in Squire's Court.

Hill Vance was fined one dollar and costs late yesterday afternoon by Squire Kratzer. Mr. Vance was charged with trespassing and pleaded guilty, not making any attempt to fight the case. The case attracted considerable interest as it was the first of its kind to be tried here. John Adams, one of the men with the construction company, filed the charge and is determined to stop peo- ple driving over the brick before the street is open to the public.

ROBBERS RISK AT RISK HOUSE

Attempt to Enter Home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Risk Twice in One Night.

FRIGHTENED AWAY EACH TIME

Robbers attempted to enter the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Risk in North Sexton street Tuesday night and as yet no trace has been found of them. Mr. and Mrs. Risk were both awakened shortly before mid- night by a noise at the window. List- ening for a short time, they decided that someone was attempting to enter the house. Mr. Risk got up and frightened the intruder away when he made noise in the house. Neighbors were aroused and a careful search of the vicinity was made, but no thieves could be found. Mr. and Mrs. Risk had scarcely gone to sleep when they were awakened again by steps on the porch. A second attempt to get a glimpse at the intruder failed and he, was frightened away. Mr. Risk is away from home occasionally at night and the members of the Risk family believe that the person or persons who attempted to gain entrance to their home was someone who was fa- miliar with that fact.

SPICELAND BOYS ARE IN THE TOILS

Four Are Indicted by Henry County Grand Jury on Various Charges.

DISTURB A CHURCH SERVICE

Spiceland boys are not generally supposed to be so bad, yet four of them are now in the toils at New Cas- tle. Milford Valentine, (no relation to Jimmie) Carl Toohey and Carl Wil- liams have been indicted by the Hen- ry county grand jury for disturbing a religious service. Valentine and Wil- liams have been arrested and each furnished bonds in the sum of sev- enty-five dollars, when they were re- leased. Toohey is out of Spiceland, but his relatives have sent word that bond will be furnished as soon as he returns. Raymond Laster, a colored boy of Spiceland, charged with petit larceny in a grand jury indictment, has been arrested. He is accused of stealing a watch from A. F. Kennard, a farmer.

Since emancipation the negro's knowledge of readings and writing has increased by 55 per cent.

REGISTRATION TO COME NEXT YEAR

In Cities of This Class it Will be Made Only When General Election is Held.

DIFFERENT IN THOSE OF 15,000

City Council Will Have Charge of Registry in City Election—Clerk Appoints.

There seems to be a general mis- understanding concerning the regis- tration law which was passed by the last general assembly. As there is no general election this year the regis- tration boards will not be in session and there will be nothing doing under the statute until next year, when a general election will be held.

The new law provides that in any election in any city of this State of more than 15,000 population, ac- cording to the last preceding United States census, there shall be required a registration of voters, complying with the provisions of the registra- tion of voters the inspector of regis- tration shall be appointed by the clerk of the city and the clerk of the city shall perform all of the duties required by the act of the auditor of the county. The duties required oth- erwise of county commissioners shall be performed by the city council and the rights or nomination of election officers by chairmen of political par- ties of the county in the act, may be exercised by chairmen of city com- mittees of the political parties. The city officials shall be required to per- form the various duties prescribed for the county officers in whose stead they act, subject to the same penal- ties and provisions prescribed in the law as to such county officers. The city shall appropriate for and defray the expense of such registration, in the same manner as it defrays the ex- pense of a city election.

It will be seen that this clause ap- plies only to cities having a popula- tion of more than fifteen thousand. As Rushville does not come in that class no registration will be required when a city election is held.

G. A. R. ASKS JUDGE JACKSON TO SPEAK

Complete Arrangements For Decoration Day Exercises—Sermon at First Presbyterian Church.

THEY WILL ATTEND IN A BODY

At the regular meeting yesterday afternoon of the G. A. R. arrange- ments were practically completed for the Decoration Day exercises. It was decided to extend an invitation to Judge Jackson of New Castle to de- liver the address and it is expected little difficulty will be had in obtain- ing him. Judge Jackson is said to be an excellent speaker and would at- tract a large crowd.

The Memorial sermon will be preached on the Sunday before Dec- oration Day by the Rev. J. B. Meach- am of the First Presbyterian church. The G. A. R. will attend the services in a body and will assemble in the court house at nine-thirty o'clock, marching from there to the church.

REMONSTRANCE AGAINST FIRST

William Frame is Circulating Paper to Get Signatures Against the Petition For Paving.

IS OBTAINING FEW SIGNERS

Attorneys Declare That Pavement of Perkins Under 1911 City Act
Could Not be Stopped.

That a fight will be made on the pe- tition to improve First street under the three-mile gravel road law as well as on the Perkins street petition seems imminent, since a remon- strance against it is now being cir- culated. Will Frame had a remon- strance today and was attempting to get signatures. As no remonstrance has been started against the Perkins street petition, the residents against the improvement depending, so it is said, on the charges that misrep- resentation was used in obtaining sig- natures.

That the abutting property owners in Perkins street should take advan- tage of this opportunity to pave the street and get it at a reduced cost is the assertion of the attorneys for the petitioners. They declare that the residents of Perkins street are de- termined to have the street improved no matter what means must be used.

The attorneys cite the road law which was passed by the last General Assembly and which is included in the acts of 1911. That law provides that the city council may order the street improved or that they must act on the petition of one abutting prop- erty owner of the street. Under that law, the lawyers declare, the remon- strators will not have such easy sail- ing as it requires that the council shall order the improvement unless eighty per cent of the abutting prop- erty owners on the street sign the remonstrance. It will be seen that that will not be a very easy task, since it would probably be impossible to get that many property owners who are against the improvement. Attorneys say that a petition to pave under the recent city act will be filed if the present one fails.

An error was made yesterday in stating that remonstrances must be filed twenty days prior to the time for hearing the petitions under the three mile law. Instead they must be filed within twenty days after the time set for hearing the petition.

KID M'COY IS A BANKRUPT

Pugilist, Related Here and Near Milroy, Files Voluntary Petition.

"Kid McCoy," known during his boyhood days down about Milroy as Norman Selby, and related in this city, is a bankrupt. According to his petition, which he filed voluntarily, he is worth just $60, while he has debts aggregating $21,470. Of the $60 as- sets, clothing to the value of $50 is included. The remaining $10 is given as cash in hand. The schedule of li- abilities includes $2,000 for rent, $1,- 500 for a boat and repairs thereto, and $3,300 borrowed money and out- standing notes. Some of the pugil- ist's admirers, however, would almost forgive him for this had he fought fair and won his famous fight with Jim Corbett.

FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Emma Cregar Would Have Marriage Set Aside.

Mrs. Emma Cregar has filed suit for divorce from Reuben Cregar and demands $2000 alimony. Mrs. Cregar in the complaint alleges cruel and inhuman treatment and failure to provide. She asserts that Cregar has often threatened her life and in her presence has abused and ill treated their children. They were married September 5, 1880, and separated April 17, 1911. Besides the $2,000 alimony she asks for five dollars a week for the care of her two young- est children.

ROBBERS FAIL TO ENTER HOUSE

Squire Ben Ritchie of Milroy is Called Home to Frighten Away Thieves.

THEY TAKE OUT WINDOW PANE

Squire Ben J. Ritchie, who metes out the justice in Milroy, has been in the limelight of late and now burglars have attempted to rob his house. He was pestered with threatening anon- ymous letters a few months ago and then was called on, by the right and dignity of his position to render a decision in the Ritchey chicken steal- ing case.

Mrs. Ritchie was sitting in her home when she heard someone at- tempting to gain entrance to the house through one of the bedroom windows. She telephoned for her husband at his pool room, which he operates in conjunction with his court business and finds a very lucra- tive business, and he hurried to his home, only to find that the burglars had fled. Investigation disclosed that the thieves had taken a pane of glass out of one of the windows, ap- parently with the intention of robbing the house. The attempt is believed to be the work of two hoboes who were in the town that day.

IN SEARCH OF HEIR TO LARGE ESTATE

William Rue, an Attorney From Ohio,
Here Looking For Thomas Sheedy
Formerly of Fairview.

NOW LIVES IN GRANT COUNTY

William Rue, an attorney from Ohio, was in this city yesterday and later went to Fairview in search of Thomas Sheedy. Sheedy is wanted in Ohio as the heir to a large estate left him by his sister, who died recently. The attorney has been experiencing quite a little difficulty in locating his man as his exact residence was not known. Thomas Sheedy moved to Grant county several years ago and is now on a farm about five miles west of Fairmount. Mr. Rue left for that city last night. The lawyer ob- tained his clue to the residence of Sheedy through the fact that James Sheedy, his son taught school in Fairmount and is now in Milroy. Mr. Sheedy is related to the Joyce family, which lives near Fairview and they also aided in locating the lost heir.

The estate to which Mr. Sheedy is the heir is considered a very valuable one, according to the attorney, and he was very anxious to find the law- ful owner.

ENUMERATION TO SHOW GAIN

Enumerators Believe That Number of School Children in City Has Increased During Year.

THEY HAD 1135 AT NOON TODAY

Deductions From Enumeration Show 1910 Census For Rushville to be Sadly in Error.

It is the belief of the school enum- erators who will complete their work tomorrow, that this year's enumera- tion will show a slight gain over that of last year. At noon today the whole city had been covered with the exception of West Second street, which it was expected would be vi- sited this afternoon. The enumera- tors will reserve tomorrow and Sat- urday to call at places where they found no one at home the first time. The results will be placed in the hands of the county superintendent, C. M. George Monday and he will make the official report at that time.

One of the enumerators said at noon today that the number of school children which they had found in the corporate limits at the present time was eleven hundred and thirty-five. It is believed that after West Second street has been taken and after all of the back calls have been made that the number will be increased to about twelve hundred.

The enumerators say that several people have come to them and asked that they pad the number so as to benefit Rushville. They declare that they will do nothing of the sort and that they are endeavoring to get the exact number of school children in the city. They have been told that the returns were padded in previous years before W. E. Wallace had charge of the work.

It is, of course, practically impos- sible for the enumerators, no matter how careful their canvass be, to get the name of every child in the city of Rushville. As every school child, whose name is listed means four dol- lars to this city, through the equaliz- ation process of the State school fund laws, the missing of even one is of great importance. All parents who have not been visited by the enumerators are requested to send the names of all their children of school age to W. E. Wallace of the city school board who has charge of the gathering of the statistics.

The school enumeration is only an- other means to prove that the 1910 census for Rushville is incorrect. There will no doubt be about twelve hundred children of school age in the city, according to the enumerator's report. Figuring five to the family it will be seen that the population of Rushville is at least six thousand. On the other hand the census only gave Rushville 4,927.

To prove that this rule holds good in other cases, New Castle might be taken as an example. The returns from the school enumeration has been made officially, and it was found that there are 1,889. Multiplying that number by five, it shows that the population of New Castle by that plan is 9,445. The 1910 census gave New Castle a population of 9,446, which is only one more than the enumeration plan shows. Evidently there is something wrong with Rush- ville's population.

The remains of Mrs. William Hank are expected to arrive in this city to- night from Little Rock, Ark., over the C. H. & D. railroad at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Hank was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kiser of near Sexton, and had made her home in Little Rock for a number of years. Burial will take place tomorrow morning in East Hill cemetery.

AN EASY AND HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR.

Who does not know of the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, put up an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. It is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the manufacturers upon receipt of price.

DON'T KISS THE BABY NOW THE INJUNCTION

Health Board Moves Against Dangerous Practice.

Indianapolis, April 27.—Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, has started a movement to overcome the mandarin sentiment that prompts the habitual baby kisser, and his weapon is publicity.

In addition to the publicity of the newspapers and periodicals which are issued by the state board, Dr. Hurty will make use of the anti-disease exhibit which the board has been carrying over the state for the education of the people.

A large placard has been prepared, and on the placard are pictures of "some of the sweetest babies in the world." Babies are popularly supposed just to dote on being kissed, whereas, if they could tell what they really think about it, some of the confirmed baby kissers would be astounded. Since the babies can't say it, Dr. Hurty is saying it for them—saying it by means of the placards. Here are some of the things Dr. Hurty will say for the babies: "Don't kiss me—you've been smoking"; "Don't kiss me—your mouth is full of microbes"; "Don't kiss me—you'll probably give me tuberculosis"; "Keep your germs to yourself—don't force me to take them"; "My lips are clean—why do you wish to spoil them?"; "I'm well—why make me liable to disease by kissing me, when I don't want to be kissed?"; "Don't take a mean advantage of me because I am little and helpless"; "Don't endanger this precious health I have."

SAFELY LANDED IN COUNTY JAIL

Long Trip for Alleged Dynamiters Is Ended.

DEMONSTRATION WAS LACKING

Though Hundreds Gathered About Entrance to Los Angeles Jail to See Now Famous Prisoners Enter, the Guards Were Adequate to the Occasion and There Was No Demonstration or Undue Excitement.

Los Angeles, April 27.—The three men accused of complicity in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building here the morning of Oct. 1 last were rushed into the county jail yesterday afternoon, and in a few minutes had been booked and put in separate cells, thus ending the dash half way across the continent which followed their arrest. Hundreds of people crowded about the entrance to the jail, but were held back by a squad of deputy sheriffs.

When the prisoner who has been known as James W. McNamara and who is said to have passed as J. B. Bryce in San Francisco, was booked he gave his middle initial as "B." instead of "W." and his occupation as a printer. Ortie E. McManigal was booked as an iron worker, and John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Iron Workers, did not give any occupation.

J. B. McNamara and McManigal were taken from the California Limited at Pasadena and put in an auto, which covered the ten miles between that city and the county jail at high speed. J. J. McNamara remained on the train until Raymond station was reached, when he was taken off, put in another auto and brought to the jail in the same manner, arriving only two minutes behind his companions. Large crowds waited at the main station in Pasadena and at the Arcade station in this city to see the prisoners, but the arrangements which had been made were kept secret and few knew how they were to be taken to the jail until they were rushed through in the waiting automobiles.

Joked With the Officers.

James B. McNamara learned Tuesday that his brother was on the train, but J. J. McNamara was in ignorance of the nearness of the former until they arrived at Pasadena, where he saw his brother and McManigal taken off the train. McManigal was in good humor and joked with the officers when they had trouble taking the handcuffs from his wrists. James B. McNamara, nervous, sullen and profane throughout the trip, seemed even more nervous here, but looked questioners straight in the eye and seldom answered their inquiries. After the men had been searched, weighed and measured and the contents of their pockets taken from them, they were locked up. McManigal was put in cell No. 9, while the McNamaras were put in a tank until separate cells can be arranged. With the three men in jail developments of the utmost importance are certain within a few hours. Mrs. D. H. Ingersoll will be taken to the jail to see J. B. McNamara, and it is expected she will identify him as J. B. Bryce, a lodger in her rooming house in San Francisco a few weeks prior to the destruction of the Times building here and the sacrifice of twenty-one lives. She made the identification at Pasadena as McNamara was being hustled from the train into the auto. Accompanied by a woman friend and a chauffeur, Mrs. Ingersoll went to Pasadena a short time before the train arrived. As McNamara appeared she exclaimed: "That's Bryce." She did not go to the jail, but today she probably will do so and officially confirm her identification.

Mrs. Ingersoll's expected identification of Jim McNamara is one of the most important factors in the conviction of the accused. Bryce, with two other men, bought 500 pounds of dynamite at Giant, Cal., early in September, took it away from the powder works in a launch; stored a large part of it in a vacant building in south San Francisco, and brought the remainder to Los Angeles. Part of this was used in wrecking the Times building, and the remainder, it is asserted, in the infernal machines placed in the homes of General Harrison Gray Otis, owner of the Times, and F. J. X. Zeelandelaar, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association.

Three attorneys already have been engaged in the defense of the men, but no attempt has been made to obtain writs of habeas corpus. The lawyers are Austin Lewis of Oakland, a prominent Socialist; Job Harriman of Los Angeles, also prominent in Socialism, and O. N. Hilton, until recently of Denver. Whatever legal move they decided to make probably will be made today.

No Place For Outsiders.

Tangier, April 27.—The British legation has received a dispatch from Fez dated April 21, which says that the consuls will leave with European citizens as soon as the road to Tangier is open. The dispatch confirmed the capture of Mequinez and the proclaiming of Abdul Aziz's brother, Mulai Zeen, as sultan.

STRENUOUS DOINGS FOR THE PRESIDENT

New Yorkers Keep Mr. Taft On the Run.

New York, April 27.—President Taft got here at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon and headed straight from the Pennsylvania station to the Waldorf. In five minutes he stood in the grand ballroom of the hotel pinning a gold eagle to his coat and thanking the New York commandery of the Military Order of Foreign Wars for making him a member. Mr. Taft told Amory F. Carhart of the foreign wars order, who presented him with the insignia, that he did not know just how he qualified for membership in the society, but he was grateful, anyhow. From the Waldorf the president went to the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, to dress, and then to the home of Miss Winifred Holt to dine. Next he went to the Metropolitan Opera House to open the industrial exhibition of the blind, and thence to the armory of the Seventy-first regiment to review the regiment. He had supper with the Hungarian Republican club at the Cafe Boulevard, and spent the night at H. W. Taft's.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Taft went to the home of Henry Clews for luncheon. In the evening he will attend the annual dinner of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' association at the Waldorf, will look in at the dinner of the Methodist Social Union at Sherry's, a dinner of the Aeronautical Society at the Astor, and a dinner given to J. Van Vechten Olcott at the Astor by the business men of that congressman's district. The president will leave for Washington at midnight.

SEIZED AN ISLAND

Dutch Sea Captain Takes Over Part of Our Possessions.

Washington, April 27.—The Dutch flag has been raised on Talmas island in the Philippines, the island being claimed by a Dutch sea captain in the name of Holland. Talmas is a small coconut island about sixty miles southeast of Mindanao, and is one of the islands included in the treaty with Spain and to which the United States claims ownership. There are about 300 natives on the islands.

Government authorities here say that the question of ownership was raised about two years ago by a Dutch sea captain, who contended that he had discovered the island and that it belonged to Holland. The authorities doubted if any serious claim would be made by Holland to the island. If the island has been seized they are of the opinion that it was taken by some Dutchmen who were not acting by authority of the Holland government.

Perkins Street.

That the commissioners will consider the Perkins street petition for paving first seems very likely since there is no reason for taking the ten petitions for new roadways up in any manner other than in the order in which they were filed. The law does not require that they consider them in any regular order.

The argument which the residents of Perkins street, who are against the improvement, use, borders on the humorous. They say that fraud was used in obtaining signers to the petition. That is plainly a false charge since it has been understood from the first that the petition was filed under the three-mile law.

The Daily Republican is irrevocably in favor of improvement, especially of the city's streets and the county's highways. There is nothing which will add more to the beauty, convenience and general welfare of any city or county than good roads. The Republican believes that Perkins street as well as First, if that be possible, should be paved with brick according to the petitions.

The alleged remonstrators are hopelessly in error in stating that they will fight the petition on the theory that fraud was used. That is out of the question. The time for filing a remonstrance, which is the only manner by which the petition may be stopped, has not yet expired, but the remonstrators have little on which to depend, except some trumped up and imaginary pretense, which is wholly unfounded.

Some people think that the mere fact that they are labor union members proves that those fellows dynamited the Los Angeles Times. Others think the mere fact that they are union men proves that they didn't.

The D. A. Rs are against Brigham Young's picture on the Utah battle-ship service, in spite of Brigham's heroic efforts to reduce the surplus of unmarried women.

If the peace in Mexico should disappoint the ammunition makers, they can still take heart from the refusal of the Los Angeles girls to lance with the Japs.

As a five days armistice has been declared in Mexico, our people on the line will at least get a chance to plant the vegetable garden.

Madero says he will fight first and talk peace afterward. That kind of men make business good for the lawyers.

It is a great triumph to persuade President Diaz to let the Insurrectos print their speeches in the Record.

One thing that appears to be very clear from the developments after the arrests in the famous dynamite outrage, is that John J. McNamara of Indianapolis, secretary-treasurer of the structural iron workers, is at least familiar with the details of some of the disasters. That he should have dynamite in the cellar of the building in which he kept his offices seems very suspicious and while his brother carried dynamite over the country in a suit case appears on the face of it that some members of the family were at least connected with the plots.

The assertions of various labor leaders over the country as well as those of labor men in general are disastrous to labor unions, no matter what kind they be, when they apparently condone such crimes. The best position for labor unions to take is fullest extent the perpetrators of that of willingness to prosecute to the fullest extent the perpetrators of such outrages if they would exist. The really dangerous foes of labor unions are men who attempt to defend such acts rather than punish the men who bring them about. It is useless for labor men to attempt to excuse McNamara or any of his confederates by advancing theories that the crimes were executed by enemies of labor. Such an excuse is foolish.

Labor unions are a necessity in the present day and if they would withstand such a crucial period in their existence as they are now undergoing, they had better join in meeting out justice to the men who are guilty of the recent dynamiting.

She goes to the store that she has learned always gives all or more than they promise. ## AMUSEMENTS

The Vandet will show the usual three reels of pictures tonight. The first is an Imp drama, "The Mistake." The story told by the picture is very pathetic and is full of human interest. The Nestor drama, "The Ranchman's Bride" is a typical western picture. The last film is a Bison comedy, "Ranchman's Personal" is said to be very comical. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Palace will present a Vitagraph and a Kalem film tonight. The Vitagraph film is entitled "Davy Jones in the South Sea." The picture shows Davy Jones as a castaway on the shores of Borneo, where he is captured by the natives, but whom he wins over and is made king of the Cannibal Island. The Kalem film is "The Lass Who Couldn't Forget." A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star Grand will present three pictures tonight. The first is a Nestor entitled "A Midnight Adventure." It is a drama in which there is a mixup, but everything ends happily. The second picture is an Itala entitled "Foolshead—Lady of Company." It is a mirth-provoking comedy. The third picture is also an Itala comedy entitled "Toto and the Egg For Easter Day." Earl Robertson will sing the illustrated song he sang last night entitled "Lose me in Lovers' Lane."

The only monkey barbers in the world are coming to Rushville next Tuesday, when Gentry Brothers All New Feature Shows will give two performances in this city. These monkeys are trained to enact scenes common in a barber shop. The comical situations which develop as a result of monkey nature are indeed laughable.

When the barber shop opens an "old gentleman" monkey, in all dignity, walks in. He takes his seat in a chair and tells the monkey barber he wants a shave. After placing the towel at his throat, the barber decides he needs a hair cut.

In the difference of opinion which follows the monkey barber gets angry. He fills the patron's mouth full of soap suds. Then he catches up an enormous pair of shears and the damage he would do is checked only by the timely arrival of a trainer.

This monkey barber shop scene is a most amusing presentation of animal nature. It is, however, only one of scores of unique displays which Gentry Brothers All New Feature shows offer this season.

CHAPTER X.

KELVIN did not laugh outright, but he came near it. "You have tried that, haven't you?" he ventured.

"Only in a minor degree," declared Breed, "but found no trouble about it."

"No," admitted Phillip, "you had no trouble about it." When your agents found they could not influence certain papers they took others, and they took the easiest ones and the ones least worth while. Remember that the majority stockholders of practically every one of these roads are the public. In order to reach them you must completely control almost every paper in the land, and even you have not enough money. You cannot subsidize the press of the United States. Count that as final."

Breed nodded. He remembered one or two disastrous experiments during his early operations. "What, then, do you propose?" he asked. "From your attitude you evidently have in mind a plan of action."

"I am not quite ready to lay it before you," replied Phillip. "It still requires some figuring."

Breed frowned. "Don't get too high handed, young man," he warned. "Remember that, after all, I am providing the weight which gives our plans momentum."

"Mr. Breed," said Phillip, rising, "any time you object to my methods tell me to go, and it won't require your private militia to put me out of the grounds. I was worth two and a half million dollars when I came to you, and this you cannot take from me. I am here with you, however, because I want to use the enormous power of your money for purposes of my own. Aside from these purposes, which are not a matter of life and death to me, I assure you, I don't need you or your money."

Breed looked at him a moment, then lay back in his chair and rubbed his hands together and chuckled until it threw him into a fit of coughing. "Go ahead, my boy, and see who gets the most out of it. I wouldn't part with you for anything. This two million and a half of yours, by the way, is it in cash?"

"No," replied Phillip; "it is in highly profitable oil, coal and iron lands, into the extension of which my profits are going as fast as I am making them. I hypothecated them in order to get in on our Stock Exchange deal, but immediately removed that incumbrance as soon as the deal was concluded. So far as the cash is concerned, I would rather you should have it than I; it has so much more weight when thrown into one pile."

Again Henry Breed lay back and chuckled, and he followed Phillip out of the room with extremely friendly eyes.

Mrs. Rensselaer, always drowsy after a meal and always fighting off that drowsiness for reasons not entirely unconnected with embourgeoisement, sat upon the balcony outside her own apartments after the early dinner customary at Forest Lakes. Young Rensselaer and Elsie White came strolling from toward the back of the house, talking quite earnestly, and struck out into the southwest roadway. Mrs. Rensselaer stiffened. It was perfectly disgraceful of Herbert so far to forget his station in life.

From the front porch Phillip and Lillian stepped down and strode up the northwest path. Lillian clinging to Phillip's arm and chattering volubly, even excitedly. Mrs. Rensselaer, estimable lady, arose at once.

"How indiscreet!" she murmured. "I must see that the dear child is instantly chaperoned."

She went quickly down the stairs, and at a turn in the road she saw them under the dim avenue of trees just ahead of her.

Even as she looked she saw Lillian

WORRY AND HURRY

are the two greatest foes to indigestion—and very few people reach the age of forty without falling a victim to indigestion in some form or other.

Undigested food is a serious menace to health and is the cause of headaches, sleeplessness, flatulency, gas and distress in the stomach, despondency, nervousness, bad breath and impure blood.

In such cases Vinol has a marked beneficial result. It seems to go directly to the seat of trouble, strengthens and tones up the tired, weakened nerves of the stomach, enabling one to digest with ease the very foods that once caused distress.

A case has just come to our attention in Barre, Vt. Mr. Samuel Wheeler suffered with a stomach trouble for years and had taken all kinds of medicines without relief, and at last found a cure in Vinol. He says Vinol was worth five dollars a bottle to him. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

suddenly turn and throw her arms about Phillip. For a moment she stopped to gasp and then hurried on with an intention born of anger. What had really happened was that Lillian had stepped upon a loose, round stone and had slightly turned her foot. Instantly she had wheeled and clutched at Phillip for support.

"I beg your pardon," said Mrs. Rensselaer coldly; "I seem to be interrupting something of an entirely personal nature."

"Appearances are deceitful," replied Phillip, laughing and concealing the tremulousness of his voice as best he could. "I fancy that Miss Lillian has sprained her ankle, and I think that she is faint."

"If Miss Lillian were to choose less dim paths for her strolls she would not be in such danger," quoth Mrs. Rensselaer dryly. "As her chaperon I must ask both of you to be a little more circumspect in the future. Come with me, Lillian."

She led the girl away unresisting. Her limp was slight, but she tottered as she walked. Her hand as Mrs. Rensselaer took it and put it in her arm was flaccid and cold with moisture. Mrs. Rensselaer looked back, expecting Phillip to come with them and offer to assist Lillian home, but he stood in the same spot, numbed, not even thinking.

Mrs. Rensselaer and Lillian had no sooner turned the bend in the road than a tall, gaunt form sprang from among the shrubbery at the roadside. Strong, lank hands clutched Phillip by the shoulders, and a pair of eyes, phosphorescent in the dimness, like a cat's, blazed into his.

"Let her alone!" hissed the voice of Blagg. "You don't care for her. Let her alone!"

"Take your hands from my shoulders!" commanded Phillip firmly.

"Let her alone, I say!" repeated Blagg fiercely.

"I'll give you just one more second of warning," cautioned Phillip, drawing up his arms and clinching his fists.

Neither one had time for parley, however, for a huge black shape hurled itself upon Blagg like a whirlwind, huge black fingers seized him by the throat, and a huge black body bore him to the ground.

Kelvin sprang forward in fright. "Sam!" he cried. "Sam, Sam, Sam!" In desperation to save Blagg's life Phillip hauled back and gave the negro a resounding kick in the side. With a loud aspirated "Huh!" Sam suddenly relaxed, but still his heavy body hung poised over that of Blagg, with his weight upon the man's throat.

Now, however, it was no task for Kelvin, stooping down, to topple Sam over.

Phillip bent over Blagg and loosened his collar and was fanning him. "Sam," said he sharply, "there is a spring down there in the ravine. Hurry and get some water in your hat."

"Ah, hope Ah ain't done gone an' done no damage to 'im, Mistuh Phillip," said Sam contritely.

"Hurry and get that water," ordered Phillip. "Remember, Sam, next time to give me a chance to handle my own difficulties."

"Yas, sah," said Sam as he plunged over the bank.

He brought water, but it took some time to revive Blagg. When he rose to his feet there was a little trickle of blood running from the corner of his mouth, and Phillip offered him a handkerchief.

"Never mind," said Blagg, waving it away. He was quite himself and refused any assistance. He started toward the house, wiping his lips with his own handkerchief and feeling his neck. He staggered for a few paces, then squared his shoulders and walked sturdily away.

Phillip, having seen Rollins safely off, walked into Breed's study confidently the next morning. "It is going to cost you something to get those proxies. I can't tell you how to subsidize the newspapers, but I know how to subsidize the public," said Phillip, with a smile, and handed Breed a sheet of paper.

Breed glanced at it and elevated his eyebrows; then he whistled. "This is going to cost an enormous amount of money," he declared.

"It would seem so at first," admitted Phillip; "but here are the figures," and he handed Breed another sheet of paper.

Breed studied this latter long and earnestly; then he rose and gave Kelvin his hand. "Young man," he exclaimed, "if heaven had only blessed me with a son or a grandson like you!"

"It is a pity that your granddaughter was not born a boy," suggested Phillip.

Breed shook his head and sighed. "It is a gift that she was not," he replied. "That is the only family luck for which I have to be thankful. No human being susceptible to emotion or sentiment can ever rise to great achievement!"

Phillip colored slightly, and Breed's sharp eyes caught the flush. He raised a warning finger.

"Remember, young man," said he, "that it is in youth these things must be fought. Were it not for that old age would have no chance in this world for preferment. In the meantime go ahead with your scheme of subsidy. At what time does your plan include making the attempt for proxies?"

"Within two weeks," replied Kelvin. "If you will excuse me I will put this on the wire at once."

With some curiosity, remembering the events of the night before, he went into Blagg's room.

"Good morning," said Kelvin. "Here is some stuff I wish to get off."

Blagg looked it over, then read it more carefully and nodded his head. "This is your scheme," he declared familiarly. "Of course there is an ulterior motive behind it, but even so this is an act that will work real good to the people, and it will operate in Breed's favor when the day of accounting comes."

"The day of accounting?" repeated Phillip.

"Yes," replied Blagg. "There is always a day of reckoning, isn't there?"

"Possibly," agreed Phillip dryly. "In the meantime you might get the message away."

For the ensuing month there was a new order of things. Phillip had never sought Lillian, but now he avoided her persistently. The propaganda he had put forth soon began to bear results. Breed would not say how well pleased he was with the outcome as clippings began to pour in from the bureau of his New Jersey offices, but secretly he was delighted, and daily he went down into the vault and gloated over the money that was there. Meanwhile Phillip delved into fresh statistics, covering wider and still wider plans of which Breed knew nothing, and Blagg practiced upon his combination lock.

The name of Breed was now upon every lip. It had always been, for that matter, but in terms of execration. Now that sentiment was tempered. There were thousands of columns of editorials printed about him and his great philanthropic movement. Phillip's plan had been very simple. It was merely the issuance to the newspapers of this proclamation:

Beginning tomorrow, the price of bread, of the same weight and quality as heretofore, will be reduced throughout the United States from 5 to 4 cents a loaf. This price will continue until a committee, to be selected by the public, can determine from my books and records the actual cost of bread delivered to the consumer. Immediately upon that investigation bread will be provided at actual cost. I have made my fortune and desire no more. From this day on my bread factories shall be run in the interest of the public alone.

HENRY BREED
There it was—bread at cost! It was the most tremendous sensation that had ever been given space in the papers since Breed had completed his consolidation of all the cereal food industries in the United States. No argument could hold against that. It was an argument which was additionally clinched every time a man bought six loaves of bread for a quarter and received a penny in change.

At exactly the psychological moment Phillip launched his campaign for the control of railroad stocks, and for thirty days there waged the great battle of the proxies, a battle no less bitter because silent, no less ferocious because unseen, no less relentless because there was no bloodshed.

REBATING CHARGES ARE TO BE PUSHED

Indictments At Cleveland Stir Things Up.

Cleveland, O., April 27.—Secret indictments against Dan R. Hanna, Robert L. Ireland of the M. A. Hanna company, and D. T. McCabe, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania company, and seventeen indictments against the Lake Shore, Pennsylvania, Bessemer & Lake Erie, and the Nickel Plate railroads have been returned by the federal grand jury which has been investigating charges of rebating against railroads and ore shippers in this section. Conspiracy on the part of the railroads, ore shippers and dock companies in granting rebates is charged. No arrests have been made. The three individuals are charged in the indictments with conspiring to violate the Elkins law. A maximum penalty of two years in the prison and a $10,000 fine is provided by law.

D. R. Hanna and D. T. McCabe are indicted on the charge of signing a contract under which the Hanna company is alleged to have promised to rebate to individual shippers the profits of the Ohio and Western Pennsylvania company, which is also indicted. The dock company was organized by M. A. Hanna & Co., and the docks themselves were leased by the Pennsylvania company to the Hanna interests. One exhibit alone shows the alleged payment of $50,111.93 as part of the earnings of the dock company to the Carnegie Steel company.

As a result of the investigation which resulted in the indictments, suits will be begun against subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation.

The Kentucky court of appeals has decided that no punishment may be inflicted for shipping whisky from Indiana to a local option county in Kentucky.

TOMORROW TO BE A DARK DAY

Large Portion of World, Including Rushville, Will go Into Deep Mourning Friday.

SMOKED GLASS TIME IS HERE

Sol Will Remove His Smiling Face
For One Hour Shortly Before Sunset.

A large portion of this world will go into deep mourning Friday.

In other words, a solar eclipse is scheduled for April 28. It will be a total eclipse of the sun, starting on the southeastern coast of Australia, racing across the Pacific ocean, passing over the Friendly Islands, falling just short of the southern Mexican coast, ending just off the coast of Central America when the sun sets.

For all that distance and for a breadth of about 160 miles the moon's shadow will darken the earth, and for from 1,000 to 2,000 miles on either side of the path of the total eclipse will be visible.

In Rushville the partial eclipse of the sun will begin an hour before sunset and will end just about the time
the sun touches the horizon.

This will be the only eclipse, partial or otherwise, visible anywhere in America this year, for while there will be an annular eclipse of the sun in the fall, it will be visible only in the eastern hemisphere. A solar eclipse is, of course, caused by the moon coming between the sun and the earth. The eclipse of the moon is caused by the earth going between the sun and the moon, casting its shadow upon the moon.

When the sun is in total eclipse, its whole face is blackened, which permits earth beings to see the wonderfully colored corona of the sun, which while it is always shooting its gorgeous rays of light from the sun at all angles, is invisible to people on the earth because the sunlight is too strong.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Gertrude R. Smith has filed suit for divorce in the circuit court from her husband, Calvin A. Smith. In the complaint she sets forth that they were married February 18, 1894, and that he left her March 18, 1909, and has failed to make reasonable or any provisions for her. The case is set for trial May 8.

FRUIT IS NOT HURT BY FROST

Local Growers Say That Cold Nights
Did no Damage as Was First Believed.

CROP IS NOT FAR ADVANCED

Fruit experts say, despite the heavy frosts that have fallen several nights this week, that the fruit crop is not damaged to any noticeable extent. Accompanying the frosts was very low temperature and the first impression was that the fruit crop had been ruined. It is now the opin-
